To

HAROLD W. BROWNING, PH.D.

Our esteemed advisor, honored professor, and loyal friend, who has encouraged and supported us in all our undertakings and who has so influenced us by his pleasing personality that college life during the past four years has been a long, joyous comradeship of pleasure and good-fellowship, we respectfully dedicate this volume.

HAROLD W. BROWNING, Ph.D.

FOREWORD

To Our Readers

In accordance with the custom of previous years, we, the Class of 1925, have endeavored to make this book a living memorial of college days. We can truthfully state that we have labored diligently in order that we might compile a book which, in future years, would cast aside the mantle of time and bring back the golden memories of college life.

Memories

Like the fast fading tints of the evening sky,
Like the pale white glow of the autumn moon,
Like the sparkle of myriads of stars on a frosty night,
Like the glistening jewels of ice which deck the supple birches,
Like the delicate hues of bee-seducing flowers,
Like the perfume-laden breezes from the dewy fields,
Like the bass melody of the marshland denizens,
Like the dreamy cloud-argosies forever being wafted through an infinite sea of azure,
Like the ripple of water when a fluttering leaf has fallen on its surface,
Like the plaintive note of the whip-poor-will swelling over dale and lea,
Like all of these, the beauty, the sincerety, the peace-bringing charm of the memories of our college days will live with us forever until the cloud of life fades into the sunset of a dying day and the whip-poor-will's song is stilled.

SENIOR CLASS
(Class of 1925)

Class of 1925

President	WILLIS J. SNOW
Vice-President	HELEN S. BURDICK
Secretary	LOUISA B. LATHAM
Treasurer	JOHN J. CALLANAN
Assistant Treasurer	VERA I. SWAN
Honorary Member	HAROLD W. BROWNING

In the fall of '21 our campus was enlivened by a large group of progressive youngsters, green as usual, numbering one hundred and fifty-eight and full of pep, every mother's son of them. We proceeded to get into the market for radiators, tickets to the Biscuit City theatre and various and sundry other commodities which every Freshman demands on his advent.

Owing to procrastination and the rapid entry of drab and chilly winter we did not have the pleasure of pulling the Sophs thru Underwoods Pond that year. However, we succeeded in trimming the wise boys of '24 in both football and baseball, showing thereby the undeniable versatility and prowess of the then green Freshies.

We broke into the social whirl at a Freshman informal held in Lippitt hall one memorable Friday night. At this affair the banner of 1925 was first unfurled. The boys of '24 tried several times to capture the banner but they were up against a perfect combination and masterful team work, with the result that the banner was retained easily by the class of '25.

Having come through the Frosh stage with flying colors and an added zest for the following years the class returned in the fall of '22. The incoming Freshies succeeded after a hard tussle in pulling '25 through Underwoods Pond, but we retaliated with compound interest by winning decisively the football game. We also beat the class of '26 in the Freshman-Sophomore Debate and the baseball game. It was during this year that the class put over a very successful Soph Hop.

In the fall of '23 the class returned very much depleted in numbers but the survivors were strongly imbued with the old R. I. spirit by this time and determined to carry on the good work of the past. During the year we ran the festivities of Junior week including a very credible Prom. The co-eds were defeating all rivals in basketball and the outstanding players of the champion team were of the class of '25. In football, basketball, baseball, and track the class has contributed more than its due share of Varsity material each year. Members are also found in large numbers in Phi Delta and in the Debating Society. At the close of the year the class ran a very successful Commencement Ball.

Having come thru the scathing period of the Freshman year, the vigilant, hypercritical period of the Sophomore year and the busy, quiet and earnest plugging of the Junior year we returned in the fall of '24 to begin the last lap of our college life. Very different from the verdant group that arrived in '21, we set about the business of graduation with an earnest purpose and the usual dignified demeanor. During this year the class showed its versatility to a marked degree. Every society and activity on the campus claimed the leadership of the Seniors.

We were a very busy class of Seniors getting the GRIST ready for publication and sale. Despite the frenzied finance of this hectic year we succeeded in carrying on our various projects with success. Now that the end of a busy and happy four years' sojourn on the campus is here we are about to leave with confidence that the same success that characterized our activities in college will follow us out into the world of industry and achievement.

WALTER HAROLD AHLBORG, A X A Providence, R. I.
"OLAF" "WALLY"
CIVIL ENGINEERING

Corporal (2); Engineering Society, Masonic Club.

"Olaf" has attended M. I. T. for part of his education, but he has spent most of his time with us, hence we give him greater credit and esteem him higher for having the good sense in picking the best engineering school of the two. "Wally" keeps both "Lanza" and "Pa Webster" busy thinking up catching engineering problems in vain endeavor to stop him, but to no avail. Our hero was there when it came to practical problems also. During his spare time Wally is kept busy by the Ahlborg Construction Company, and has proved that he can mix cement with the best of them. He has taken no less than five special trips to Portland, Maine, to get the "inside" on the special process of making Portland Cement. A structural engineer of the future; bon voyage "Wally".

JANET SOPHIA ALLEN Fall River, Mass.
"JAN" APPLIED SCIENCE

In the year 1923, our sophomore year, there came into our midst, a sweet brown-eyed Miss from Southern College, Virginia. Although she was a shy, quiet Miss whom few really knew, there was one person on the campus who discovered her. She surprised us all by announcing her marriage this year — a charmingly youthful and courageous act. We wish Mrs. Bliss all the joy and happiness in the world.

EVARISTE ALBERT ARNOLD Pawtucket, R. I.
"AL" "THE KID"
ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING

Sergeant (3); Lieutenant (4); Track (3) (4); Member A. I. E. E.

"Al" is another of Pawtucket's famous sons. During the first two years of his career here at Kingston we didn't see much of him for he practiced the art of commuting.

"The Kid" is a soldier of great ability, having gained the title of "hard-boiled lieutenant", during his sojourn at Camp Devens. The Coach's "Sedate Senior" studies when he isn't correcting work for "Tip" or Prof. Bills. He has been interested in all college activities and we hope will have made his R. I. in track by the time you read this.

"Al" has devoted his days here mostly in Lippitt studying the mysteries of the E. E. course and expects to become affiliated with the G. E. when he gets his sheepskin. We have never noticed any special weakness for the fair sex, but rumor has it that he spends his Sunday afternoons at Saunderstown. Be this as it may, we all know his ability as an E. E. and are sure he will have a bright and prosperous future.

FRANK ARIEL BARNES, JR.

Woonsocket, R. I.

"FAB" "AGGIE"

AGRICULTURE

Aggie Club (4); Fruit Judging Team (4).

"Fab" came from the wilderness of the State four years ago. However, we have great hopes for Frank; we expect to hear his melodious voice announcing the arrival and departure of trains in some large railroad station. He would not be a common announcer, for his witticisms would keep the passengers roaring. A bright energetic youth, who never grew up, Frank may some day graduate from train announcer to Charlie Chaplin's shoes and make that celebrity tremble with envy. After all, we must give "Aggie" credit; he can, and does occasionally, make two blades of grass grow where only one grew before. For all his innocence, Frank has taking ways, so bachelors are the only people who are safe with Frank around.

Class Football (2); Class Debating (2); Chemical Society (1) (2) (3) (4); Military Ball Committee (3) (4); Sergeant (3); Lieutenant (4); Grist Board (4); Varsity Debating (3); Class Beacon Board (4).

Meet one of our shining lights in the scholastic field. Tho a student of the "A" class "Milt" as we all know is a regular fellow. Having graduated from Classical High in Providence in 1921 "Bid" appeared the following September as a freshe at R. I. State. The first two years the "home ties" being very strong "Bid" commuted, but in the Junior year he proved the acquisition of collegiate wisdom by coming down to eat, sleep, and be merry with the boys.

"Milt" distinguished himself as a student by making the coveted $\Phi K \Phi$ in his Senior year. He was also active in other college affairs and always ready to help. We are sure his ability and friendliness will soon place him at the top of the ladder.

This plump, placid, yet rather active individual, hails from the city of industry, Pawtucket. As one may judge from the preceding list of activities "D. B." is a rather versatile chap. As an athlete, executive, and "soldier", "Don" has made the grade. As a pitcher in the interfraternity baseball games he had no equal, and when "Don" decided he would look well with a Varsity R. I., he characteristically sauntered down to the field, and grabbing a javelin proceeded to heave it out of sight. The whistle, grin and matter of fact method of getting things done will surely land "D. B." at the top of the ladder in short order.

Tho shy and retiring in his Freshman and Sophomore years, "Don" began to grace the ballroom of late, and we understand is quite at home with the fair sex. Good luck and success "D. B."

The wondering Freshie who once thought "Evey" in the blue tie of '25 serenely building a campfire by placid Thirty Acre was too dignified, too capable, and too calm to have any sport in her make-up, was sadly misjudging one of our most popular Seniors. She has been active in all branches of athletics, and no "pituit" would be complete without her. Capable? Yes, "Evey" has successfully captained the Varsity basketball team during her Senior year as well as she has captained every undertaking. Dignified? Calm? Yes, both, but dignified with the charming, womanly dignity of the real college woman, and calm in the pleasurable assurance of self-confidence. If you succeed in future years as well as you have in college "Evey", you will be "a woman before whom the world will bow."

That famous old saying that "history repeats itself" shows up right here on our campus for we have a second Pocahontas and Captain Smith affair. "Poko", short for Pocahontas, resembles that Indian maiden not only in appearance but in her love affair, for she has liked none other than Stretch Smith, a captain in our student army, ever since our Freshman year, and now she wears his fraternity pin. This hasn't taken all of "Poko's" time for she has been one of our busiest athletes. Her training as presidents of many societies and vice-president of our class every year, and as manager of the girls' tennis team will come in very handy when she starts taking care of her big pale face chief. We don't know just what "Poko's" future plans are, for when asked when she is going to get married she just laughs and blushes and says maybe pretty soon, and that is all we can get out of her.

"Les" "STEINMETZ"

ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING

Engineering Society (2); Senior Beacon Board (4); Glee Club (3) (4); American Institute of Electrical Engineers (3) (4).

The only man who ever seemed to like "bills" is "Les". However, the "Bills" that he welcomes are the two two-legged specimens from Connecticut. A terrible triumvirate, to be sure. In the future as we hark back to our college days our fondest recollections will contain a mental image of the chum whom we all admire and respect. A man who is thoughtful, considerate, loyal, and conscientious, always friendly and forever eager to be of assistance to his friends and acquaintances. Because of his unassuming nature "Les" is best known by only a few but those that are intimately acquainted with him are emphatic in their praises and esteem his friendship most highly. Quiet, industrious, and sincere is the comrade whose counsel we often seek. There is another vital reason why "Les" Burlingame deserves the praise and admiration of everyone, namely, he established a set of ideals for himself and has dared to live up to them. Through trial and sorrow he has kept his heart clean, and has looked up and smiled and lifted to the best of his ability. Truly he is a man.

Quiet old "Les"! Only a few besides the two "Bills" know of that powerful and charming magnet that so often drags you away from Kingston, but we wish you both all the happiness in the world.

Rope Pull (2); Varsity Debating (3) (4); Football (3); Aggie Ball Committee (4); Student Council Treasurer (4); Class Treasurer (4); Subscription Editor GRIST (4).

"Cal" came to Rhode Island from serving "Uncle Sam". We did not see very much of him the first two years for he purposely hid himself from public view, perhaps because he had got into the habit of ducking the "majors" and "whatnots" of previous years. However, in the Junior year his love of logical argument prevailed upon him, and he went out for debating, making TKA. His clear thinking and business ability gave to the class an unrivaled man to handle the subscription department of this GRIST.

"Cal" declares that eventually he will settle down as a true "son of the soil" devoting his efforts to poultry raising and fruit growing. Whatever line he follows, we feel sure that "Rhody" will have added reason to be proud of his past and future accomplishments.

Long! Lean! Lanky! These alliterative adjectives are all applicable to "Chatty", our "big boy", who strolls from class to class as if endowed with mythical "Seven League Boots". But if this ardent Aggie has long lines, don't make a mistake and think that he has a long "line". He hasn't. As far as we know, he is as quiet and demure as an elderly Kingston spinster. But — here's where his double life comes in. A Dr. Jeckell and Mr. Hyde reincarnated in the form of this abysmal brute. He makes "weakly" visits to Clayville to study nature (human), and how he loves the cows and the chickens! The cows in the barn and the chickens in his Ford.

The City-by-the-Sea wept salty tears into the salty waters around it, when "Bone" announced the completion of his Odyssey; but Kingston and Rhode Island State received him with open arms, and the reflection of his famous smile and dazzling personality soon drew an ever growing circle of friends about him.

"Bone's" achievements are as many and as excellent as the famous "57 varieties". He was one of the hardest and scrappiest players that ever scrambled the turf on the local gridiron. Just close your eyes and dream of a May night, when Lippitt Hall was transformed into a veritable spring garden with tiny orbits glimmering over trellised nooks entwined with ramblers, and you will see "Bone" the artist, the decorator superb.

Engineering claims his working hours, but the arts take up his leisure. From Conrad and Tolstoi, he has gleaned a rare philosophy and power of expression.

This is the true portrait of "Bone", a gentleman, a scholar, and a friend of all. We know that this versatile youth going out on life's rough road, with Twenty-five's best wishes for every happiness, can do naught but succeed.

Ruskin once said, "A friend is a person before whom you may think aloud." Consider for a moment the significance of these words — then apply them to Stella. Her deep understanding of human behavior, her clear logical plane of reason, (which is only acquired through an insatiable thirst for the truths in literature), and her disciplined intellect to which failure lends a charm, have combined to make her a powerful magnet. Like the sphinx, she is the silent listener but never fails to draw us from those interminable pits into which our groping minds precipitate themselves only to become bewildered.

Practical in the extreme, "Jack" has no time for pet theories that will not work. Many entertainments does "Jack" afford with his practical schemes; decorating and moving picture operating are right in his line. John takes in all the shows and uses them to good advantage to quicken his interests and to add to his list of "friends". But action and reaction are equal and opposite, so "Jack" vents his pent up emotions in a battle of wits or some friendly joust. John's ability to apply theory to practice will make him a valuable and wealthy man. Then his more studiously inclined classmates will crawl from their books, and his friends will leave the shows to obviously seek his friendship.

Recollections of a languorous night in May, when the college-social danced to the dulcet strains of Mowray Pearl's Serenaders, would be sufficient to preserve "Doc's" memory forever in our hearts. To his unflinching inspiration and endeavor was due the success of the most extravagant Junior Prom held at Rhode Island. "Doc's" motto, "a bigger and better prom," was exemplified in a never-to-be-forgotten manner.

Yet do we also remember him for qualities other than artistic genius. "Ted" shone on the football field for two memorable seasons, and his exhibition of gameness and aggressiveness was well marked by all who saw him in action. Graced with charming manner, a gift of repartee, and genial disposition, he was a friend to all.

"Doc" spent his summers twixt the city, and the sea resorts and the mountain paradises, and in his wanderings he garnered a wealth of knowledge about the wiles of femininity and their conquests.

The best wishes of Twenty-five will go with him wherever he endeavors to climb the stairway of great achievement in the world of practical endeavor.

Who is that whom we see "tripping the light fantastic toe" with the auburn haired beauty? — "Why yes," 'tis "Walt" Fenner who requires no introduction at Rhody. He is of the "veni, vidi, vici" type, whether it be in studies, zoology, temptation, ladies, or even in addressing the Faculty, and seeks quarter from none. His trick mustache, care of "the weak," mature frankness, and general good humor and ability have kept him in the limelight continually since he and "Giff", arm in arm, sauntered onto the campus from Brown early in 1923. Phi Delta found in "Walt" an actor of ability and for two seasons he has rendered the society much valuable service. Our hero's chief hobby is to stand with his room mates and watch our army drill.

In the early fall of 1921 the village of Kingston was aroused by the arrival of an ancient "Ark" containing one small, tousled-haired youngster from the great metropolis. This red headed youth, a graduate of Technical High School assumed the rôle of a day student and plugged at his studies his entire Freshman year. He first came into prominence as one of the instigators of the Bed-o-sled which carried the college by storm in the winter of 1922. In his Junior year "Fergie" stepped out of his teens and under the tutorage of his terpsichorean pal soon entered the social whirl of the college. "Red" was originally an engineer and his ability as a mathematician served him in good stead in passing his chemistry courses. We feel sure that this ability will greatly aid him when he takes up his career as a colorist in a large textile industry.

Now no one could ever call George moody or even pensive, for he is continually on the go, or on a committee which is the same thing, for he makes things hum them. His exuberance of enthusiasm and his ability to get people to work with him, as evidenced by his work in cheer-leading and mass-meeting activities, promise him a roscate future in business. George is also of a poetical mind and often, for want of something better to do, sits down and writes out a cheer that will add many points to our athletic scores. But "Swede" has been disappointed in love. Yes sir! Why, he says she won't marry him — at least not till next year.

Some people get ahead because they make a great deal of noise; not so with Arthur, he gets there without it. He is by no means at the bottom of his class, but has gumption and gray matter enough to lead, on his own initiative, the rest of us a merry chase. He is an intelligent, indulgent, and attentive listener, but when he gets a chance to put a word in edgewise, he opens his mouth with a purpose and often leaves the group in convulsive laughter. Still water runs deep, but "Art." likes the running brook for a change where he drops another "line" to lure the speckled trout into his basket. A fortunate fellow is Arthur Ganz, for he has traveled to foreign lands; hence many a tale can he unfold of radio fan and sailor bold, but when he finishes his evening task, he turns to the Saturday Post at last.

Gaze upon the individual who gave Baden Powell the original idea pertaining to Boy Scouts. During his sojourn in college he has sponsored many "leagues" wherein some of the less fortunate have been exposed to his inventive genius. We predict a great future in the banking field for him, because of that elaborate two pocket system of finance which he has worked out all by himself. His activities, however, have not been wholly confined to higher finance because at any time he may be seen on the corner at the Biltmore giving the fair sex a treat. His social abilities are by no means neglected because of his constant mingling with the debutantes at the Arcadia. He's an all-around man so his future will take care of itself.

Like Adam, "Pete" was banished from the Garden of Eden, (i. e. Massachusetts), and came to Rhode Island. Massachusetts has not yet lamented audibly over her lost son — and probably never will. But don't be prejudiced unduly against "Pete". He's all right. Ask any of the inmates of our capacious cow-barn where he works. We fear, however, that he has missed his calling. His innate characteristics fit him admirably for the part of a modern "Dead-Eye Dick". The ability to pierce a target with infallible accuracy is wasted on this lad, unless he wishes to shoot some of the feline Romeros and Juliets from whose throats nocturnally emanate weird and plaintive songs of love — and perhaps conquest. But all the world loves a lover, and we love our "Pete". If we hear him cry aloud in the night, "K"—"K"—"K", we know he is safe from the ravages of the be-sheeted clan. But not entirely safe — since, as Kipling says, "The female of the species is more deadly than the male."

This very fact leads us to the conclusion that Carlos uses discretion, — even in his love affairs. A most admirable quality! But alas, what a line he has! If one will but listen to him this nonchalant playfellow of Cupid will talk and talk and never cease 'till snores be heard and the groans of suffering victims.

But though his radiance may sadly dim us, lesser lights that we are, we cannot help liking our friend Harold for his disposition is both kindly and sympathetic. But wait, let us not forget to mention the one other great propensity of his mind, namely, a most unappeasable passion for "Joe Automobile". Many a nag has died heartbroken since "Heathy" took to touring, and the highways and byways no longer hear his horses' hoofs but see his dimmed headlights instead. Shoot 'em your line, Sheik, and the world is yours.

"Larry turn the crank". Here we have an exceedingly versatile young man. As a bugologist we predict fame. He is a member of the "Dunhill Club" and poses as a woman hater in Kingston, but the populace of Saylesville has the correct dope on him. As a "ham actor" he cuts quite a figure and as a musician he has already made an enviable reputation because of the notes he hits — far beyond the capability of "Paderewski". All he needs now is the conventional haircut and his future is made. Rumor has it that he will now complete his musical education at the world famous "Niagara School of Music." We wish him success in his art.

From Cranston High School in 1921 came "Johnnie", tall, lank and active. As a Freshie he was conspicuous by his absence in college activities, but later events proved that he was busy looking things over. "Johnnie's" outstanding characteristic is a keen eye with a tendency to aim well and always hit the mark. In his Sophomore year "Eke" decided to step out and as the above list shows he distinguished himself in class athletics. This year he made the Varsity rifle team, where his ability counted for much in the teams creditable record. "Johnnie" is a star basketball center, and the same keen eye proved useful in netting the ball. Despite the athletic tendency this youth is also a star in the art of "Terpsichore". "Eke" always liked to oblige the boys even when dancing at Lippitt. We have no doubt that his marksmanship will be continued in the world of business and we expect "Johnnie" will have equal ability in hitting the bullseye of success.

He was always pretty clever with a gun, but like all other ambitious people he was anxious to progress even further toward perfection and a high score. So it was with the greatest of pleasure that we saw his old Ford (for a modern soldier does not use a "nag") roll lazily down our busy thoroughfares. Our "Kachie" was back, and ready for work. But he did not believe in all work and no play. Oh no! Although we always thought of him as a serious minded fellow, he sure did like to "strut his stuff" and many a polished floor has been the stamping ground for "Kachie's" synopating peddle extremities. We hope, Old man, that when you get into life's keen competition, that you will come through with a high score and hit the bulls-eye of success.

Here is another "Bill" from Connecticut. Rhode Island has been fortunate during the past four years, for all that time she has held captive the brains of her sister-state. Caesar was ambitious, so is "Bill"; Caesar was at times light-hearted, so is "Bill"; soon "Bill" will be seeking other states to conquer — lucky states! In class, "Bill" is the sun among stars; in college activities, he is the same luminous body — shining East, but looking "West". Some day, we expect to hear of a new electric syndicate and to feel "Bill's" competitors tremble. "Freddie" is not fickle, he likes variety, so he specializes in "White Caps" in the spring, life savers and mermaids in the summer, and over-tures in the fall. He is best in the capacity of life saver, however, when he opens the doors of East. No, there is no doubt of "Bill's" diversities — he can push a pen or handle lumber with equal effectiveness.

This strange awakening is rumored to be the indirect effect of his nocturnal pedestrianisms between Harvard and Camp Devens. The final year at Rhode Island has proved an exceedingly busy one for "Professor Bill". Besides being heavily burdened with scholastic and managerial responsibilities he has generously given of his time to the class of '28 in order that they too might become endowed with a knowledge of chemistry. "Al's" memory will be perpetuated at Rhode Island as one of the most brilliant athletic stars ever to represent Alma Mater. For four long years his work on gridiron and diamond has been one of the mainstays of "Rhody's" evelens and nines. But the class of Twenty-five will also long remember the jovial classmate and loyal companion whose pleasant greetings were scattered promiscuously over the Campus.

This smiling lad wended his way to Rhode Island from the somewhat doubtful hamlet of Walpole, where the bereaved natives still mourn his loss. His four years here represent the aggregate of days of golden sunshine and pleasant memories, but it was not until his last year that he achieved immortal fame as the melodious tenor of the Imperial Waiters Quartette. "Al's" hobbies apart from athletics, have been cosmopolitan debating and the conquest of the deadlier sex.

He is extremely versatile in his more serious pastimes as well as in his "affaires du coeur", being a talented musician, a clever artist, and a most intriguing story teller. During the summer while at Warwick he teaches the mermaids how to swim and so many Nereids does he sport with that we can truly consider him a modern Neptune. It can't be that, because when he left the farm and went to Camp Devens in 1924, "Nick" was "Nick", and his contagious conviviality made him one of the most popular fellows in the camp.

Heretofore, running his farm has prevented him from taking an active part in athletics, but at the present time he is making a sincere effort to earn a place on the baseball team, and no doubt by the time this is in print he will be a member of the Varsity nine.

He rose to the position of Editor-in-Chief of the Beacon and through its columns broadcasted to the world humour, philosophy, fidelity, facts, and a certain sincerity that is the backbone of Americanism. Under adverse circumstances, Willis completed with honors twice as much work as the average student staggers under. Even under this load, "Will" still found time to devote to his mother and many admiring friends. Few people know that "Will" is an artist, but his friends remember many appropriate decorations. Serious though "Bill" is, he never quite isolates his jokes, but blends the two into a wonderfully engaging personality that even "a teacher" can't resist.

This curly-haired young man drifted into Kingston four years ago with the intention of becoming a civil engineer. Quiet and debonair, "Ed's" everlasting smile and happy disposition have won for him a place in the hearts of his fellow students. Anyone meeting "Ed" will accept the theory that good things come in small packages. Although small in stature, "Sparky" has the logic and force of a great orator. It was through his skill that we defeated the Freshmen in our Freshmen-Sophomore debate. "Sparky", may happiness and success be ever yours.

We acquired the life of our M. E. Class from a source that rarely sends us an engineer, Classical High of Providence. Although "Abe" lacked the usual scientific preparation, he has shown his heels to the rest of us in the past four years. His hardest course starts on Friday and ends Monday morning; "Abe" says that no one can accuse him of cutting that class. Like most of the rest of us, he has served now and then as one of Coach Keaney's dogs, but this baseball season will probably find him out of that class. It is enough to say of "Abe" that he is generous to a fault, a hard worker, and a good friend. The best of luck to you, "Abe."

Nevertheless, during his three and a half years here "Ray" was very active in the various organizations on the campus, especially in debating where he gained the distinction of being perhaps the most eloquent speaker that ever delivered a speech from the stage of Lippitt Hall. "Ray" is at present with the firm of "Bigelow, Kent & Willard" of Boston and encouragement is extended to him from '25 for a successful career.

She with her pal "Lou", has never missed a chance at having a good time on all occasions. "Ve" has the wonderful ability of accomplishing everything well that she sets out to do. "Jack" wandered up the hill from the staid and stately town of Brookline, Mass., and having looked the place over, decided to spend a few years with us. Though he left the home town, "Jack" always kept in touch with events back in Brookline and every day he spent an hour perusing the home news from the Boston Post. "Jack's" popularity among the boys on the campus can be shown by the fact that his room was a regular meeting place for the "Eds" from far and near. High-low-jack and bridge were pretty good standbys to rest the weary brain. Though not a Varsity man, "Jack" took part in all the class tussles and was a staunch supporter of both class and college. We expect "Jack" to be a strong booster of American Agriculture and through his ability and good nature to win a high place in worldly affairs.

"Ed" was too busy to make Phi Kappa Phi, but his scholastic records show that he can hold his own in the class room. He expects to continue his studies at Brown University next year in preparation for his future work.

He appears quiet, but Oh my, to those who know him "as is." He can swing a wicked limb at the best of dances, act alive at a party, but for all that, has had his John Hancock exposed to the public under the heavy type "Honor Roll."

He has a keen eye for apples, which not only means that he can judge them, but can consume them to the limit. Are apples the only things to suffer? Ask any waiter his opinion of "Cy" as a food crusher. Although he roomed at the local jail during his Senior year, in order to gain the dignity and reserve attitude, he really is straight, considerate, and a benefactor to mankind as an agriculturist.

WHEN WE WERE FRESHMEN
Class of 1925 Four Years Ago

JUNIOR CLASS
(Class of 1926)

Class of 1926

President	CHESTER W. JENSEN
Vice-President	HOPE M. DYER
Secretary	MARK R. GIFFORD
Treasurer	JOHN E. HARVEY
Assistant Treasurer	RUTH FEARNEY
Honorary Member	FRANK W. KEANEY

During the Fall of '22 a record-breaking number of Freshmen found their way to the campus of Rhode Island State College from many places of culture and interest. After much confusion in getting organized, with a spirit of unity they settled down, and all pulled together in order that their class might help to promote the ever advancing spirit of Rhode Island.

With this object in view the class of 1926 worked for the good of the college. Many have received letters for the honor they have gained for their college and themselves on the football field.

Those that were unable to play football entered the annual rope-pulling classic; and here '26 humbled '25 by giving them a touch of Neptune's cup of woe.

With such a fine start the spirit of the class kept on advancing and captured a majority of the places on the Varsity basketball team. With her extra material, she won over '25 in the inter-class contest.

In the spring the baseball and track teams were strengthened by her spirited members.

Then they came back in the Fall with that ever dominating Sophomore spirit, and as kings of the campus they humbled the Freshmen in the rope pull and the basketball games.

Then, too, the class backed up the social life of the campus to the limit.

The Soph Hop and the Junior Prom were the best on record. It is not necessary to repeat that '26 did this-and-that in the different activities because the records show that they gave their all for Alma Mater through three years of service and they are preparing to end their campus life by making the fourth year the best of all. Gentle reader, if there is one lesson to learn from our history, it is that an organization, such as the class of 1926, must keep on advancing in actions as well as thoughts in order that the spirit of our Alma Mater might be enlarged and make itself felt in the far corners of the universe.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

Class of 1927

President	JAMES DONALD, JR.
Vice-President	MARION STEVENS
Secretary	MILDRED L. THOMPSON
Treasurer	WILLIAM H. FORD
Assistant Treasurer	MURIEL ARNOLD
Honorory Member	CAPT. CLAUDE G. HAMMOND

It was a beautiful day in the fall of '23. The Shore Line Express rolled into Kingston and when the coaches had been brought to rest many excited youths clambered out.—Who were they?—They were the new college students—the Class of 1927 to be.

At a glance one could see that this was a lively group, and the upper classmen at the station must have murmured, "They act as if they were going to make things snappy!"—Truer words were never spoken, for since that very day '27 has occupied a memorable spot in the lime light of R. I. S. C. activities.

It was after the routine of registration had subsided that the spirit of '27 made itself evident. Some seventy odd men reported for football. Out of these was built Rhody's first real Freshman team. What a team that was! Team after team fell before their power. To carry a successful season to a close '27 gave the Sophs a good trouncing in the Class League. Having introduced themselves thusly they carried the good work into the basketball season. Candidates for this sport numbered thirty-five. The resulting speedy quintet forged through a season of sixteen games losing only two. The Soph-Frosh game this year was hotly contested both on the court and on the side lines. The unlucky yearlings finally succumbed to a two point lead.

With spring came the Freshies only real weakness. Their baseball team was inexperienced and lacked a pitcher.

Three months elapsed. Registration took place. Those of '27 that had withstood the ordeal of the Freshman stage were now Sophs. Ten of these second year men were promptly found on the football team or among the seconds. Having gained considerable knowledge of the art of playing football they quite easily defeated the Freshies in the final game of the season.

During the winter months members of the class were busy in other branches of college life. A Soph was leading the list of Honor Students. Many members were trying to make the Beacon a greater success. Some were engaged in preparation for one of Phi Delta's much enjoyed productions. A few are now zealously preparing for the annual Sophomore-Freshman Debate, which they are confident of winning. Who will forget the good time that they had at the Hop? The Co-eds put forth scrappy teams both in basketball and hockey. The boys of '27 showed up well in basketball. There were six of them on the Varsity team and among the subs. Rhody has just closed one of the most successful seasons in its basketball history, and much credit is due these men. The fast Frosh of '28 however, were able to take the inter-class game away from them after a speedy and dogged resistance.

Baseball is here again and doubtless many of the candidates will be Sophs. We know they will do their best.

The class of '27 has been here only a short while and have produced leaders and representatives for all branches of college life. They have already accomplished many things—many more and greater things can safely be predicted for them before June, 1927. May they leave a history which will far surpass any conceivable predictions.

FRESHMAN CLASS
(Class of 1928)

Class of 1928

President	GERALD H. FAUNCE
Vice-President	MARGARET McCRAE
Secretary	ALFRED T. KRATZERT
Treasurer	WILLIAM GANNON
Assistant Treasurer	ELIZABETH KENDALL
Honorary Member	CHARLES L. SWEETING

Last but not least we will hear from our no less conspicuous Freshmen. Ushered in as they were with a Freshman informal and an intelligence test they became known both socially and intellectually. In the course of a few months the class of 1928, one hundred and forty-three in number, not only became accustomed to tipping and wearing their caps, refraining from "shicking" and spending their youthful evenings as members of Delta Tau Lambda, but also became well represented in almost every line of their college activities.

Considering the ladies first, we notice twenty Freshman girls with spirit galore in class basketball. Lead by a highly spirited captain, who later was a strong point on the Varsity co-ed team, twice victorious over their Connecticut rivals by a large margin, this team was defeated only by the Varsity composed Senior Team. The co-eds of '28 also showed up well in class hockey. Not only in athletics have the fair ones been busy attaining prominence but also in the dramatic society, on the Beacon, and in attaining scholastic recognition.

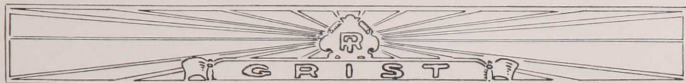

Turning now to the boys, we see them "starting big" by unceremoniously coaxing the Sophs into the "slough of despond" and winning the rope pull decisively. Football material was not as aspiring as it might have been wished for, but the boys of '28 worked hard and the end of the season found them with an even break. Out of five games they had won two, lost two and held one to a scoreless tie. In the Soph-Frosh game the husky Freshies offered stiff opposition, but the final whistle found them at the small end of the score.

During the basketball season the Freshies made a much better record. Their team was spirited, fast and not nearly as green as their jerseys. Eight out of the twelve frays were turned into victories. The greatest of these victories was over the Connecticut Frosh at Kingston. The two teams being very nearly matched, Rhode Island spirit was the deciding feature. In a very exciting game a few days later the Freshies somewhat removed the sting of defeat offered them by their rival class in football by overpowering '27 on the basketball court.

As many as nine Freshies were recruited to the ranks of the Beacon. One of these has recently been advanced to Campus Editor. Phi Delta has claimed several Frosh, giving one of them an important role in the yearly production of Junior week. Not to be outdone by the fair sex twelve youths made their appearance on the Honor Roll. The R. O. T. C. Rifle Team has had at least one Freshman on practically every match shot this year. Those of '28 vocally or musically inclined have rendered their services to the Glee Club, the R. O. T. C. Band, and the College Orchestra. It is quite reasonable to assume that the class of 1928 will be well represented this spring in baseball and track.

Everything considered it seems that the class of '28 has exceptional opportunities to get a strong foothold on the life of Rhode Island and make a history hitherto unequalled. Here's wishing '28 the very best of luck.

The Season of 1924-1925

LIONEL M. WARDE
Capt.-Elect of Football
1925-1926

At the outset of the football season, the Varsity was greatly handicapped by lack of material. Commencement cut a wide swath in the ranks of the gridiron cohorts and it was an impossible task the Coach faced in September. Coupled with the shortage of seasoned timber was a schedule capable of causing worry to the best of clubs. Coach Keaney is to be congratulated for doing as well as he did despite seemingly insurmountable obstacles.

Some excellent men stepped up from the ranks of the previous season's Freshman club and nobly filled some of the vacated posts. Among these were Warde, Deschanz, Barber, Donald, and Armstrong.

The season opened with the University of Maine on the home field. Rhode Island was out of condition, and was greatly outweighed in the bargain. The team battled hard, but the "Down-Easters" emerged from the fray a 37-0 victor.

The next tussle was with the very strong aggregation from the University of New Hampshire. In the two weeks interim the team had been whipped into shape and waged a worthy scrap against these formidable opponents. New Hampshire took the ball and a 16-7 win home, but all were favorably impressed with the brand of ball "Rhody" staged. In the last few minutes of play Bosworth broke loose and tore 45 yards for R. I.'s score.

"Rhody" next tackled Lowell Institute on the latter's field and tied onto the short end of a 6-0 score in a very poorly played game. The breaks were all in Lowell's favor but there was no excuse why the pigskin wasn't carted home.

The Kingstonians strolled to New York the following week, and stacked up against the strong C. C. N. Y. eleven. The Violet had the best team of recent years and after a stubborn contest came out ahead 13-0. The generalship of Plaut was the deciding factor in their victory. The work of Rhode Island's game little half-back, Makin, was the feature of the game. Time after time he speared and ran back spiraling punts with the opposition waiting to crash him.

In the last game on the home field W. P. I. was taken into camp 14-9 in a game replete with brilliant action and versatile field running. The greatest find of the season was made in this tussle when Makin took charge of the game and ran the club to its arduous victory. His beautiful forward from the forty-yard line to Hickey on the second was unsurpassed in Rhode Island football history.

Bates took the Varsity's measure in a well-played game at Lewiston, 13-6. The going was even throat but a long forward in the closing minutes of the fray was snatched by a fleet Maine back and turned the tied score to victory.

The season ended with the team lined up against their ancient rivals, Connecticut, on the latter's home grounds. The "Nutmeggers" had the fastest moleskin-unit seen there in some years and came out of the contest with an unblemished record. Rhode Island was outweighed but not outfought. The final count, 22-0, gives no indication of the heroic way our forward line met the savage onslaughts and surges of the orange-jerseyed horde. And again the Rhode Island supporters thundered their approval as the lighter Kingston warriors smeared play after play.

The team lined up with Meade at center, Northup and Smith guards, Capt. Gifford and Barber tackles, Deschanz and Ward ends, Jensen and Hickey halfbacks, Bosworth full, and Makin quarter. The line was ably supported by Shields, Shea, Taylor, Ralston, Christensen, and Armstrong. The backfield had a galaxy of sterling subs among whom were Gratton, Donald, Lamont, and Pinto. At the close of the season Lionel Warde was elected Captain for the coming year.

Considering the calibre of the opposing teams and the dearth of early season material the team deserves great credit for the never lagging spirit of fight and determination which they carried into every fray.

Basketball

The recent basketball season ended with the club hanging up one of the most scintillating records a Rhode Island team has ever left behind. The official count discloses eleven victories and five defeats.

A wealth of stellar material was available from the outset. Captain Pinto was in rare fettle for the opening whistle, and with him were Hill, Jensen, Asher, Rabnowitz, Haslem, Bosworth, Hayden, and Negus. The return of Braley in February further strengthened the club, and completed a glimmering constellation of Rhode Island stars.

It would be a difficult task to give great credit to any one individual; for the team from the outset was actuated with the spirit of team play. The local court saw some great basketball, and that this was appreciated was evidenced by the animated cheering of the Kingston benches during the entire season. The few defeats suffered were generally the result of the club not functioning with their usual machine-like precision.

The game with Yale was lost thru unfamiliarity with their peculiar personal style of play. Against Connecticut and Boston University the Kingston five were bucking, smooth-working and experienced combines. Each of these teams took two games apiece, but the spirit with which Rhode Island fought did much to condone for the defeats.

Hill, "Rhody's" diminutive forward, played the best game of his career, and at the conclusion of the season was elected to Captain the team for the coming year. Jensen and Pinto constituted a tower of defence in the backcourt, breaking up the opponent's play innumerable times. Braley and Haslam divided the centre honors, while Asher and Rabnowitz contributed flashes of the style of game they play, which has made both popular with the spectators. Hill, the team's scoring ace, was high man for the year with Haslam trailing slightly.

The past season saw one of the most successful terminations a Rhode Island nine has enjoyed in years. The Varsity did a little better than split even, turning in five wins out of nine starts.

The club got off to a late start due to the inclement, frigid weather. Not until the end of May were the elements suitable for a proper exhibition of the national pastime.

A galaxy of polished material answered the first silent beck of the willow, all of whom were well versed in the lore of the sport. Captain "Gob" Edwards, Rhode Island's master-moundsman, alternated on the pitching platform with Lamont. Wright tagged onto the initial sack; Hudson and Makin divided second; "Tom" Kirby stirred the dust at short; "Lefty" Smith annexed the keystone sack, and McKenzie took posture behind the plate, completing an infield comparable with Rhode Island's best. The outer-garden was well policed with "Red" Smith in the south corner, Pinto in mid, and either Lamont or Edwards in right. Manser, Nye, and "Stretch" Smith were strong utility supporters.

The Season opened officially at Middleton on April 12th with Wesleyan. Both teams "pelted" the sphere lustily, Hudson garnering a brace of triples, but Rhode Island errors gave the home club a 12-6 victory.

Lowell Tech was vanquished in the first game on the home pasture 13-12 in a poorly played exhibition. The day was raw and bitter and not conducive to good ball. Heavy hitting featured the contest, Wright walloping two three-baggers.

A week later Brooklyn Poly. succumbed to the wiles of Edwards' twirling, and were chased back to the tenements with a 14-5 defeat. The locals' heavy hitting sewed up the batfest early.

The nine went to Worcester and took on the baseball champions in the next engagement. Holy Cross came out on the long end of a 9-1 score. Their terrific swats, coupled with our outfield errors, never placed the issue in doubt. Kirby, Makin, Wright and Smith covered the infield in rare and masterful style; Hudson connected with the pill for one of the longest three-ply crashes seen at Fitton Field.

Maine turned the trick while visiting, and lambasted enough offerings to take a 7-3 win home. The Backwoodsmen had a neat looking aggregation, and played smoother ball.

Northeastern suffered two defeats at the hands of the Varsity, 16-6 at Boston and 14-8 at Kingston. Both contests were brimful of virulent socking, but were marred by errors.

Worcester Tech hung a 6-3 defeat on the Kingstonsians record. The loose field play of the Rhode Islander Club was again the deciding factor.

The season ended with two contests with Connecticut; Rhode Island romped off with the premier, but dropped the second in the closing innings when the defence crumpled on the opposition's field. The first tussle was featured by the all around brilliant play of Rhode Island, especially their baserunning; the team ran wild and pilfered ten sacks to the "Nutmegger's" one. At Storrs the party was seemingly on ice, but a collapse in the seventh chucker greased the skids of defeat. Hudson put the finishing touch to a prolific season by clouting the longest homer seen on the Gardner Dow field.

Hudson wielded a virulent sapling thruout the season and wrought havoc with opposing pitchers. Edwards hurled inspiring ball and was instrumental in nipping many a rally, being especially sturdy in the pinches. Kirby flashed on the bases and while covering short made good some astounding tries. Makin developed into a brilliant second sackman and whaled some mean clouts skywards. "Lefty" Smith let little go by at the hot-corner, and played so impressively all around that he was elected captain for "Twenty-five." The hay-mowers chased the elusive pill all over the alfalfa and kept the enemies' bingles to the lowest possible minimum. Pinto showed more than usual talent both pulling them down in the heavy grass and sending them out there with the stick.

Never in the history of Rhode Island was there such a successful and victorious track season as the recent one. All three meets were with formidable foes, and real talent was necessary to mark the counters on the right side of the ledger. The notable record achieved was due to the fact that a classic collection of turf diggers was assembled beneath the folds of the Blue and White standard.

Tower, Hudson, and Strong bore the brunt of the Rhode Island attack. These three, assisted by excellent support, made up an unbeatable assemblage.

The Delaware meet was a treat to all devotees of the spiked shoe art. Not until the very last event was run off, was victory assured. Tower took three "first" in the 100, the 220, and the 440. Strong left the opposition fighting for second place when he cleaned up the 880, the mile, and the 2 mile. Hudson took both hurdles; G. Haslam soared highest with the pole; W. B. Gifford placed second in the shotput, Turner in the javelin and North in the 2 mile run.

Tufts came down next and was swamped. Tower repeated his previous performance, and romped off with the 100, 220, and 440. Strong took the mile and 2 mile and finished third in the 880. Hall jumped to victory in the high and broad events. Gratton won the 220 low hurdles and collected second in the century dash.

Hudson nabbed the honors in the 120 high hurdles; Lawton spun the discus to victory; Turner turned in the best javelin heave; W. B. Gifford took second in the shot and tied for second in the high jump, Grant got a second in the 880, and third a in the high hurdles.

The season ended with the Connecticut meet. All events were bitterly fought and the final issue was long in doubt. Tower was first in the 220 and second in the 100. Strong ran Jacoby, the visitor's champion ace, into the dust in the 2 mile event, but saw the latter's spikes when he came in second in the mile. Hall took the broad jump; Lawton the discus; Brown the javelin, and Perry tied for first in the hammer. G. Haslam hung up a new record for this meet with the pole when he cleared 10 feet, 6 inches.

It would be impossible in a review of this limited size to give to all the credit that is their due. Strong was elected captain for the 1925 season. At the time this is going to press we feel sure that he will lead his team to victories the replicae of those of the past season.

Cross Country

The Kingston Hill-and-Dalers during the present year added more leaves to the crown of laurel that has surmounted the brow of Rhode Island in this sport. For five long years "Rhody" has been supreme in all dual meets.

A powerful combination headed by the valiant Captain North and the sturdy Strong, showed their spikes decisively to the best that Brown, Boston University, and Worcester Tech could gather.

The jaunt with Worcester Tech. was the most bitterly contested meet of the three. The Engineers ran on a course comparable with our own for endurance testing qualities. Strong placed first after a gruelling and determined battle and Rhode Island won 22-38.

In the race with Boston University the boys from Beantown were hopelessly outclassed. The local marathoners took all five first places, Strong as usual crossing the line in the lead.

Brown met their fourth consecutive defeat on the local course in the finale of the season. The followers of the Bear tried hard but the strength of the Kingstonsians was too great to give them more than an outside chance.

In the New England Intercollegiates Rhode Island met some of the greatest hill climbing outfits in the country. The team was not up to their usual high standing of excellence due to a long lay off but at that they had no difficulty in finishing tenth.

All the credit in the world is due "Bob" Strong: his unfailing courage, phenomenal speed, and mighty determination has marked him as the greatest distance runner ever to wear the colors of Rhode Island. In every race during the past year he finished first, and a voluminous burst of cheer was wont to greet his racing figure as he sped down the last hill past the quarry to the finishing mark.

"Charlie" North for four long years has sturdily plodded along the ruts and paths, and in this time few have succeeded in leaving him in the rear. He ably captained his team in a brilliant year.

Those two flashy "knob-mounters" were ably supported by a worthy club in which were Wilbourn, Grant, Mulcahy, Cruickshank, and Harrington. At the end of the season Wilbourn was elected to lead the team for the next session.

Cross country has long enjoyed a popular vogue at Rhode Island and it is with great confidence that we look into the future and feel that the unconquerable teams of the past will be replaced with similar unbeatable squads for years to come.

The Rifle Team

The season of 1923-24 was the most successful season the rifle team has ever had and was the hardest. The matches started before the Christmas holidays and lasted until after the Easter vacation. The team had a very poor start as there were only six of the previous year's men eligible to shoot, which meant that half of the team would have to be men that had not had training before, but a large group of Freshmen turned out and due to much hard work upon the part of Capt. Church and Sergt. Prime a team was turned out which was as good as any in the country.

A total of thirty-three matches were shot, against the best teams in the country, out of which Rhode Island won thirty. This was an excellent showing, for the range is very poor as it is in the basement of East Hall where there is always noise and where the steam pipes, which enter into the building, make it almost impossible to shoot at times.

Yet some of the strongest teams in the country went down before the rifles of "Little Rhody," among them were Texas, Maine, V. P. I., Penn State, Oklahoma, and the Connecticut Aggies. Our total score was 97,361 out of a possible 106,000, while our opponents made only 76,107. The men that made the team were N. Grant, C. Kachidoorian, E. Sandberg, G. Glines, E. Johnson, H. Radcliffe, H. McAuslan, O. Harrington, H. Leigh, and W. Smith.

At a business meeting after the close of the season Carnig Kachidoorian, '25, was elected Captain of the team and Herbert Radcliffe, '26, manager, with George Glines, '27, as assistant manager.

The call for the rifle team was very successfully answered this fall, for all but Geo. Glines of last year's team were out for the team. There were also several promising Freshmen out, which made the prospects seem very bright.

Due to a change in the conditions under which the matches are shot, the team had a much harder season to face than it had the year before, but by hard work upon the part of Capt. Church and Sergt. Friel a team was developed which very successfully met the matches with teams which have much better ranges and a much greater number of men to pick from. At mid-year Capt. Kachidoorian was lost to the team and G. Glines returned.

The team scored fourth in the Corps Area match which entitled it to shoot in the International Matches which were held in April. Also for the first time in the history of the rifle team it left its own range and sought honors elsewhere. A shoulder-to-shoulder match was held with the Connecticut Aggies at Storrs, in which Rhode Island very decisively defeated her rival. This led to a possibility of a return match upon the out-door range with the Army rifle, but when this went to press the match had not been shot. There was also a possibility of the team going to Annapolis to shoot in the matches there.

The team this year was composed of N. B. Grant, E. K. Johnson, E. Sandberg, H. E. Radcliffe, G. H. Glines, O. Harrington, and A. H. Leigh, all of whom made the team the year before.

Due to the filibuster in the Senate, funds for building a new range were withheld, but it is hoped that before the next year's season starts a new range with better facilities will have been built, which, with the seasoned men and with new rifles, will tend to a better season than the one which has just passed.

Co-ed Athletics, 1924-1925

Athletics play an important part in co-ed activities and an active interest is shown by the participants in the various sports. As it is only possible to have one intercollegiate sport—basketball—interclass contests are held in hockey, basketball, track, baseball and tennis.

Basketball season brought out many players. From those the class teams were chosen. They were evenly matched, making the games close in score. The class of 1925 won the series, being the first to have their numerals on the new cup presented by the Women's Athletic Association. When Varsity practise began many of the players continued to come out. It was their faithful and untiring practice that helped to make possible the successful season for the Varsity.

This year inter-sorority games were played for the first time. The teams were so well matched that the scores were very close—Chi Omega being the winner.

Archery is being introduced this spring and is proving to be very popular. No doubt by the end of the year expert marksmen will be developed.

Co-ed Varsity Basketball, 1924-1925

This year's team, managed by Louise Vaughn and captained by Evelyn Burdick, added another season of victories to Rhode Island's record.

With four letter girls of last year's lineup—H. Burdick, R. Duggan, E. Burdick, K. Clark—and with the addition of Mildred Negus and Virginia Broome, a fast team was developed. The short, snappy pass work and accurate shooting marked the team as the fastest the co-eds have ever had.

The schedule was limited to only two games, both of these with Connecticut. The first game, February 28th, with Connecticut at Storrs, showed that the team was in splendid condition and through the excellent team work a score of 54-12 was run up.

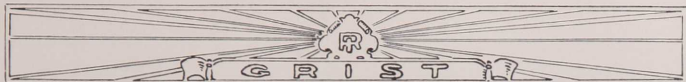

The second game with Connecticut played on the home floor on March 7th was also an easy victory. The final score being 48-6.

The Varsity also played a game with the alumnae team, which consisted of graduate Varsity players. The Varsity won by a score of 50-25.

The purpose of the Young Women's Athletic Association is to establish a high physical and moral standard among the young women and to promote a spirit of friendly rivalry and general good fellowship.

Meetings are held once each quarter. All women students are eligible for membership.

The Hare and Hound Chase given in the fall proved to be very successful. It is hoped that it will become an annual event.

To encourage interclass contests the association awards a trophy cup to the winning class in basketball, track and tennis.

The future holds great possibilities. Watch us grow!

The student governing bodies of the college have been among the most active organizations. Besides presiding as the watch-dog and law-giver of the freshmen, they instill the whole student body with a true Rhode Island spirit toward its Alma Mater.

The men representatives from the various classes are chosen as follows: eight seniors, four juniors, two sophomores, and one freshman. This arrangement is obviously not in proportion to the number remaining in the individual classes, but is designed to give authority to those who are most capable.

The Debating Society has charge of the Freshman-Sophomore Debate and the intercollegiate debates.

Three intercollegiate debates have taken place:—

R. I. S. C. versus Univ. of N. H. at R. I. S. C., March 13, 1925.
Univ. of Maine versus R. I. S. C. at Maine, March 13, 1925.
Conn. Agr. College versus R. I. S. C. at Conn., March 27, 1925.

The home team was victorious in the debates with University of New Hampshire and Connecticut Agricultural College.

Engagements when this book went to press were in Hope Valley, Westerly, East Providence, Bristol, and West Warwick.

The College Glee Club has been enthusiastically received throughout the state within the past few years and has become one of the best known agencies of the college. Next year's bookings are now being prepared and will probably include trips outside the state as well as in Rhode Island. Two of this season's concerts were broadcast.

Phi Delta, the campus dramatic society, was established about 1916. Its purpose is to promote talent in acting before the public, and to create an interest in dramatics among the students at Rhode Island State College. The increasing success of its plays has been largely due to the untiring efforts of the organization's coach and faculty advisor, Professor Helen Peck of the English department.

All students who have shown ability to act or who have assisted in the production of a play are eligible for membership.

April 13, 1925, Phi Delta produced "Thank You, Doctor" written by Gilbert Emery, and during Junior Week presented "Three Live Ghosts", by Isham and Marcin as its major productions of the year.

The Aggie Club at Rhode Island State College is the oldest organization of its type on the Campus, being founded in 1907. Addresses are given on the first and third Wednesday of each month by prominent agriculturists of the college and by outside speakers on kindred subjects.

Among its activities is the Annual Costume Ball, which is one of the five major dances of the year. Each year, the proceeds are used to send agriculture students to the Intercollegiate Contests of stock and fruit judging at the Eastern States Exposition and other principal fairs.

All aggies enrolled in the college are eligible for membership.

Junior Week

May 8-10, 1925

Junior Week opened with the Prom on Thursday night, which was a success from the first strain of music from Moray Pearl's Orchestra until the "Good-bye, Girls," which told us "our prom" was over.

The committee consisted of the following:

Chairman	Edward J. Cooney
Music	Walter J. Shea
Decorations	Andrew T. J. Christensen, Jr. M. LOUISE VAUGHN
Printing	Marshall H. Nye
Floor	Earle S. Siswick
Refreshments	Frank J. Shields
Reception	Vera I. Swan

Friday evening Phi Delta presented "The Dover Road," which won hearty applause from all who saw it.

On Saturday the Interscholastic Track Meet was held, with a game in the afternoon between Clark University and Rhode Island State College.

Fraternity dances in the evening—and another Junior Week was gone.

"Though lost to sight, to memory dear thou ever wilt remain."

Thank You, Doctor

The stage is set to represent the interior of the president's office. Seated are the President, Profs. Poggins, Jales, and Feldred. A student, anyone at all, is standing in the middle, nervously picking a daisy and playing "she loves me; she loves me not."

JALES: "Er-er-Smith, we are here to help you out."

SMITH: sarcastically: "Thanks."

JALES: "Er-er Smith, I find that you have not successfully fulfilled certain requirements placed upon you by this committee at our last meeting. You have had plenty of time to make this work up. What seems to be the difficulty?"

SMITH: "Well, it's like this, Prof; I've been very busy every afternoon trying out for the bean-bag team, and then my health hasn't been so good lately. I have a doctor's certificate here to that effect."

JALES: "Er-er Smith, whatever made you think you wanted to be an Engineer?"

SMITH: "Well, Sir, I read a lot of these adds and they all said it was a soft life with plenty of gravy."

JALES: "You haven't the right attitude, Smith; I don't think you are an engineer. Why don't you try something else?"

SMITH: "No one thought Columbus was a discoverer either."

JALES: "If that is all you can say for yourself, Smith, I would suggest that you withdraw from college until we get the new Engineering building. What do you think, gentlemen?"

FELDRED: "Ugh, Ugh."

POGGINS: "Yes, and then again no."

JALES: "So voted. So long, Smith; don't take any wooden nickels and look out for the horsecars."

SMITH: "There's a mistake here someplace. I came here with a pearl umbrella for Joe Neydo. You must be thinking of my twin brother, who graduated while we were here."

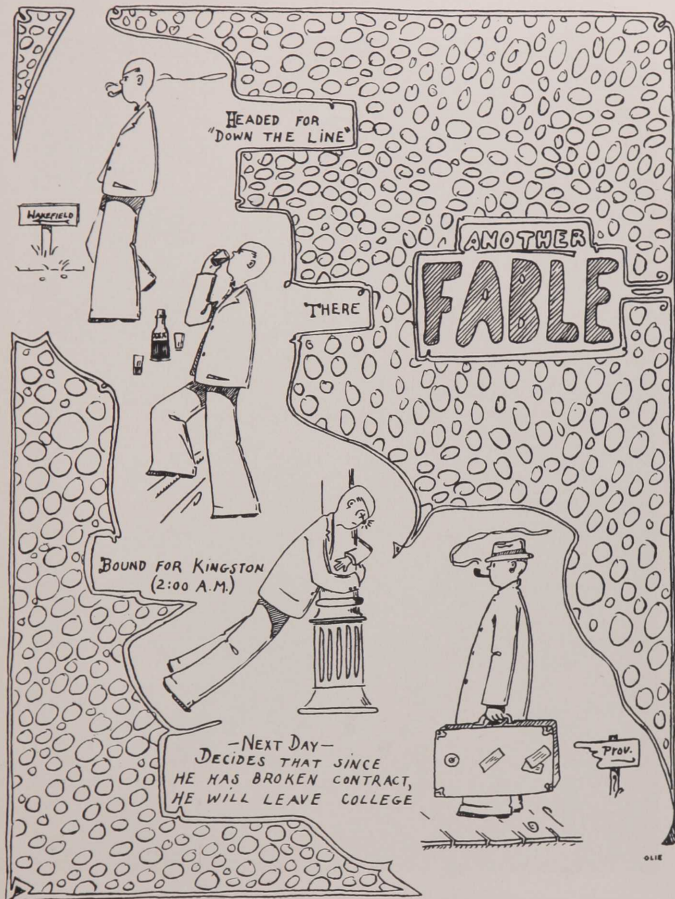

JALES: "That's no sort of efficiency. Why didn't you tell us about this at the start, Doctor?"

THE DOCTOR: "Hell's bells! I was trying to, but I couldn't get a word in side ways. Er-Smith, you can go now."

SMITH: "Thank you, Doctor."

The Merchants of Kingston

The stage is set with three small stores, a short distance apart. One bears the legend "The College Shop"; the centre one, "Tony's Coffee House"; the one on the left, "The Village Store." Two students are arguing in front of the central one. It is 4.30 in the afternoon, and the sun is just beginning to glow red in the west.

Doc: "Methinks Makin, that of the three merchants Antony is most likely to be hung up, eh?"

Al: "Shylock," (pointing to 'The College Shop,') "needeth trade, and he should fall for the oil."

Doc: "Jesse James is out of the question; he soaks 18 shekels for a deck of 15 cent fags."

Enter two Profs with milk pails: "Pa" Tebster and "Tip" Wyler. Both look at the coffee house.

Pa: "Pooh!"

Tip: "Pooh!"

TONY: (thru window): "Pooh, pooh!"

Doc and AL in unison: "Good afternoon, Professor."

Both Profs nod distantly.

(A moment later) AL: "& — % $ ()"

Doc: "& — % $ () , &"

They shake hands.

A figure on bicycle approaches.

AL and Doc: "Pridie! I owe him for a hair cut."

They run into "Tony's."

SCENE TWO

Inside of "Tony's." Several co-eds are eating sandaes and being bored by the boys from Phi Kappa Phi house. Doc and Al are leaning against the counter wondering how they are going to work it. They whisper together, and decide to work the old stall.

AL: "Hamburg and coffee."

Doc: "Make it."

Enter Bone:

BONE: "Hi."

EVERYONE ELSE: "Hi."

BONE: "Hamburg and coffee."

Tony appears with two hamburgs and coffee, which Al and Doc grab off and tear into Bony's stall. Eventually Bony is also ready. Business of eating. They prepare to leave. "Al" digs down, but comes up empty handed but smiling.

AL: "Gee, I forgot my change."

Doc: "Me too."

Bone lays down a dime and a jit and makes a frantic dive for the door, but is knocked down and brought back. Without murmuring he digs out thirty cents more and mournfully leaves.

Doc and AL (in chorus): "Thanks."

BONE: "Sucked again."

Enter Professor Pill's.

P. P.: "Hi everybody."

EVERYBODY: Silence.

P. P.: "C'mon, don't high hat me. Lemonade for the bunch."

Enter Captain Burch on horseback. He hears Pill's offer and suddenly his eyes fill with tears.

CAPT. BURCH: "Boys, there will be no more drill for the rest of the year."

Everybody faints and about that time Prexy rushes in, sizes up the situation at a glance, and assumes the pose Mark Antony used when burying Caesar.

PREXY: "Ladies and Gentlemen, you should have traded at the East Hall Cafeteria. It isn't in the contract."

THE BOARD OF EDITORS of the 1925 GRIST

Wish to take this opportunity to express their appreciation for the co-operation and good will which they have received from their many friends and acquaintances. They are under a great obligation to Miss Mabel Eldred for her valuable assistance in the art department, to the undergraduates who were always eager to serve, to the college office which aided in compiling statistics, and to the many helpers who have not been enumerated. They also wish to express their gratitude to all those who by their encouragement and helpful suggestions made this task a pleasant one and thereby contributed toward the success of this volume.

For Successful Home Baking

the right choice of baking powder is essential—a baking powder that, in addition to raising the dough in just the proper manner, adds nutritive value to the food. When you use everything you bake will be more wholesome, more delicate in texture, more delicious in taste than ever before. RUMFORD always produces the same perfect results at reasonable cost.

RUMFORD

“THE WHOLESOME”

BAKING POWDER

RUMFORD restores to fine wheat flour the nutritious and health-giving properties removed in the process of bolting.

RUMFORD makes bake days an unqualified delight to thousands of successful, happy housewives, because RUMFORD results in real baking perfection.

THIS PLANT IS RENOWNED FOR THE EXCELLENCE OF ITS PRODUCTS

Brown & Sharpe Tools girdle the world. Wherever mechanical men are at work, whether in machine shop, repair shop, power plant, or laboratory, the name "Brown & Sharpe" is synonymous with tool accuracy and dependability.

The original Universal Milling Machine was designed and built in the Brown & Sharpe factory, the first Universal Grinding Machine, and the first Vernier Caliper. Here the micrometer was developed and improved and here the first formed tooth cutter was designed that could be sharpened without changing its form.

To-day, four master machine tools, the MILLING MACHINE, GRINDING MACHINE, GEAR CUTTING MACHINE, and SCREW MACHINE are manufactured and kept in stock, in addition to 2000 sizes of many styles of precision tools, micrometers, verniers, calipers, gauges, and a complete line of cutters and hobs.

Catalogue No. 138 lists our entire line. Send for a copy.

"KETCHUP — (kech-up) n.
Malay kechap; perhaps of Chinese origin. Catsup.
—A table sauce"

But words cannot convey the delicious tomato and spice savor of Sunbeam Catsup.

Try it at dinner tonight—
then ask the family!
